

Oops, I forgot to login to Novell

Question: Have you logged into your computer but forgot to uncheck “Workstation only?”

All you can get to is your laptop or desktop. You do not have to reboot to login again. Follow the following methods....

1. You can go to Programs>Novell (Common)>Novell Login. The login screen pops up and you can log onto Novell from there.
2. Also, you can go to the red “N” in the lower right hand tray, right click and then go to Novell Login.

You will be logged in and all your drives will be mapped.